

DisasterAssistance.gov Public Service Announcement Scripts

Version 1 (30 second)

Have you or your tribe recently survived wildfires, floods, tornadoes, hurricanes or another disaster? Has your community been designated for individual assistance by the Federal government? If the answer is yes, then you can apply for help from the Federal government online at DisasterAssistance.gov. Regardless of your tribal affiliation, DisasterAssistance.gov has information and resources to help you and your family recover from this incident. Find out if you're eligible to receive assistance at www.DisasterAssistance.gov.

Version 2 (20 second):

Are you a Native American disaster survivor? Has your community been designated for individual assistance by the Federal government? Regardless of your tribal affiliation, DisasterAssistance.gov has information and resources to help you recover from damages caused by wildfires, floods, tornadoes, hurricanes and other disasters. Find out if you're eligible to receive assistance at www.DisasterAssistance.gov.

Version 3(15 second)

Are you a Native American disaster survivor? Regardless of your tribal affiliation, you can get help from the Federal government online at www.DisasterAssistance.gov. Find out if you're eligible to receive assistance for you and your family at DisasterAssistance.gov.

Version 4 (10 second)

Are you a Native American disaster survivor? Regardless of your tribal affiliation, find out if you're eligible to receive Federal assistance for you and your family at DisasterAssistance.gov.